THE FINAL THOUGHT

Christ is the source of all knowledge. To deny Him, eliminates any possibility of accumulating full knowledge. Every study into which we endeavor is both a tool to make managerial decisions and to understand Christ better. Hence, the best manager will be the one who models Christ. Let us all strive to emulate Christ both to become better managers and better stewards of Christ's ability to which he has given us access. Let us understand God's order in statistics and economics!!
