THE FINAL THOUGHT

International Business, like life itself, has a series of trials and tribulations that we seek to overcome. The best advice is to count on God to help us overcome these. I hope that we are smart enough to seek God when the big events occur in our lives, and we need Him most. However, being someone who relies on God cannot be accomplished solely by asking Him to "attend" the big events. A relationship with God is built in the times when it seems like we don't need Him at all. The times when we feel we can do it all are the times we must seek Him to build an unbreakable bond for those crisis times in our lives. Live Deliberately.
